The conspiracies of the 'Axe Party' must be thwarted at every turn: CM Chandrababu

Amaravati, Aug 8 : Training sessions for unit in-charges were held at the TDP central office. Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu attended the sessions and provided guidance regarding government schemes and party programs. He stated that the training was aimed at fostering leadership qualities among the party workers. He urged them to understand the party's ideology and to explain the government's good work to the public. He stated that if the government's good deeds are not highlighted, there is a risk that people might believe false propaganda. He directed that even a small snake should be struck with a large stick, emphasizing the need to constantly thwart the conspiracies hatched by the 'Axe Party'. The Chief Minister stated that the 'Axe Party' attempted to spread malicious propaganda regarding the conduct of the DSC exams, but they were able to effectively counter those claims. He noted that they successfully demonstrated that no errors occurred during the examination process.

Consequently, leaders from various parties—with the exception of the 'Axe Party'—are openly acknowledging that no irregularities took place. He noted that it was teachers recruited through the DSC who staged a protest on Saturday, criticizing the conduct of the 'Axe Party' (Goddali Party). He stated that if the government's good deeds are effectively communicated to the public, the people themselves will thwart the conspiracies of the 'Axe Party'. He cited the inauguration of the Bhogapuram Airport as proof that people cooperate and become partners when good work is done.

They are sacrificing their own party workers for the sake of power : Minister Savitha lashes out at Jagan

Amaravati, Aug 8 : Minister Savitha stated that they have been delivering good governance with a focus on welfare and development over the past two years. Speaking to the media on Saturday, she noted that the state is moving forward thanks to the blessings of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the vision of CM Chandrababu, the cooperation of Deputy CM

Pawan Kalyan, and the hard work of Nara Lokesh. He stated that the construction of the Amaravati capital and the Polavaram project works—which had stalled under the previous government—are now being completed at a rapid pace. He remarked that the YCP, which had previously held power with 151 seats and devastated the state, is an 'axe-wielding party' and a 'criminal party'. The Minister stated that Jagan Mohan Reddy, the leader of the 'Axe Party' (Goddali Party), is sacrificing his own party workers and leaders in his pursuit of power. He cited incidents ranging from the murder of Y.S. Vivekananda Reddy to the cases of Sudhakar, Amarnath Goud, and the 'door-delivery' incident involving a Dalit youth as evidence of the previous government's atrocities. He listed Muneshwara Rao (Devarapalli), Danayya Yadav (Palasa), Singayya (Pentapadu), Dastagiri (Kadapa), Chenna Reddy (Macherla), and Bhargav (Ibrahimpatnam) as victims of these actions.

'I stand by my remarks', Minister defends Priyadarshini free bus travel scheme comments amid row Thiruvananthapuram, Aug 8 : Refusing to back down despite mounting criticism, State Transport Minister, C.P. John, on Saturday stood firmly by his controversial remarks on the government's Priyadarshini free bus travel scheme for women, insisting that he was highlighting the poverty faced by many women and not questioning the welfare measure itself. "There are women who do not have the financial means even to travel. The tragedy is that the political leadership, including myself, failed to understand their poverty. That was the point I was making," John said, adding that his words had been taken out of context. He maintained that he had never suggested that people in Kerala were merely pretending to be poor and said those criticising him should first have sought a clarification before fuelling the controversy.

Chennai cop held for extorting money from trader by threatening to link him with Armstrong's murder

Chennai, Aug 8 : An Inspector with the Greater Chennai Police (GCP) has been arrested following allegations that he extorted several lakhs of rupees from a businessman by threatening to implicate him in the 2024 murder of Tamil Nadu BSP leader K. Armstrong. The action was taken after Akil Kumar, 35, a share market trader, approached the Chennai City Police headquarters with a complaint against Inspector Muhammed Buhari. Kumar alleged that the officer had repeatedly demanded money from him over the past two years by claiming that a mobile phone number linked to him had surfaced during the investigation into Armstrong's murder. According to the complaint, Kumar had earlier shared the mobile number with an acquaintance who is a lawyer. He maintained that he had no connection whatsoever with Armstrong's killing. Kumar alleged that Buhari used the phone number's purported link to the investigation to threaten him with being named as an accused unless he paid money. The Inspector allegedly initially demanded several lakhs of rupees and subsequently collected additional amounts from the trader on different occasions. The latest alleged demand was made last Saturday when Buhari visited Kumar's residence and sought Rs 5 lakh. According to the complaint, the money was subsequently handed over to a policeman near the Washermanpet Metro railway station. Following Kumar's complaint, senior police officers initiated an enquiry into the allegations. Buhari was subsequently arrested, and further investigation is underway to establish the extent of the alleged extortion and determine whether any other police personnel were involved. Buhari had earlier figured prominently in police operations connected with the Armstrong murder investigation. He was involved in the police shooting in which Thiruvankadam, one of the suspects in the case, was killed in July 2024. The Inspector was also involved in another police shooting in March 2025, when a suspect allegedly linked to a series of chain-snatching incidents in Chennai was shot dead. The development comes as the investigation into Armstrong's murder has moved to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).

Over 50 lakh households benefit from PM Surya Ghar rooftop solar scheme

The PM Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana -- the world's largest domestic rooftop solar programme -- has crossed the milestone of benefiting more than 50.06 lakh households across the country, the government said on Tuesday. According to the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy, the achievement comes just over two years after the launch of the scheme and marks a sharp acceleration compared with the 7.94 lakh rooftop solar installations recorded during the previous decade. The scheme has an outlay of Rs 75,021 crore and is emerging as one of the fastest-growing clean energy initiatives globally. It is now benefiting around one lakh households every six days, the government said. In addition, the pace of installations has increased more than three-fold over the last nine months, rising from 5,038 installations per day in October 2025 to nearly 16,328 installations per day in July 2026. July 2026 alone witnessed a record 5.06 lakh households benefiting under the scheme, the highest monthly figure since its launch. To support the expansion, the government has released Rs 28,024 crore in subsidies directly to beneficiaries through the Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) mechanism. As a result, nearly 19 lakh households are now receiving zero electricity bills, while more than 12 lakh households earned a combined Rs 421 crore through the sale of surplus power during FY25 and generated an average additional income of around Rs 3,500 annually per household. Around 1.6 lakh installations have been completed for PMAY, BPL and SC/ST households across four states, with the model approved for rollout in 12 states, according to the government. It further highlighted that the programme has also generated employment and business opportunities across the solar value chain. Additionally, 34,219 vendors have been registered under the scheme, of which 29,469 are currently active and more than 2.32 lakh people have been trained under various capacity-building initiatives. Cumulatively, 14.8 GW of rooftop solar capacity has been commissioned under the scheme so far.

decapitation," he said. When asked about progress, Trump told reporters "you find out today or tomorrow ... they're going to go quickly one way or the other." He said that the two sides are talking about the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, "having it open literally by tomorrow, completely open, and that's phase one." 'Pakistan can never match India': Rights activist Tasleema Akhter condemns PoK crackdown Srinagar, Aug 8 : Human rights defender and Association of Terror Victims of Kashmir (ATVK) Chairperson Tasleema Akhter has strongly criticised Pakistan over its handling of the ongoing unrest in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK), accusing the Pakistani government of suppressing dissent, violating human rights and using force against protesters. Speaking in Srinagar, Akhter alleged that the people of PoK were being denied their basic rights and urged Pakistan to address their grievances instead of resorting to violence. "They have created graveyards stretching from Rawalakot to Mirpur. And look at the elections taking place in Muzaffarabad -- they are neither transparent nor fair. For God's sake, let your people live. For God's sake, acknowledge the rights they are demanding; they are asking for their due rights, not begging for charity. It is their own land; they have a right to it," she said. Akhter further accused the Pakistani government of behaving like a dictatorship while claiming to champion freedom. "You are a dictatorship government, and you speak about freedom. You are a bloodthirsty government. The whole world is watching how you are spilling people's blood. Protests are being held against this government because the truth is now out. The dictatorship has been exposed. Listen to their demands and give them what they want," she said. Drawing a comparison with governance in India, Akhter said democratic institutions in the country respond to public concerns. "In our locality there were protests, but it was commendable that our government heard us. Recently, our Union Education Minister resigned in the interests of the youth. Pakistan should learn how a government should function. Pakistan can never be compared with India," she added. PoK has witnessed escalating protests in recent weeks, with demonstrators alleging excessive use of force by Pakistani authorities. According to reports, PoK is currently witnessing one of the most extensive confrontations between the local population and the Pakistani state in decades. The protests reportedly began on June 5 and have continued to intensify. Protesters have alleged that Pakistani security forces launched a severe crackdown in which more than 50 people have been killed and hundreds injured over the past several weeks.

Dilapidated grave of Maharani Moran demonstrates crisis faced by Sikh heritage in Pakistan: Report

Islamabad, Aug 8 : The dilapidated grave of Maharaja Ranjit Singh's queen, Maharani Moran, is not only a monument neglected by the local authorities but demonstrates the broader crisis being faced by Sikh heritage in Pakistan for decades. Decaying walls, overgrown vegetation and years of neglect raises question on whether Pakistan is really committed to preserving Sikh history and heritage as it showcases itself on the global stage, a report has detailed. Maharani Moran died in 1867, and her grave is located in Miani Sahib Cemetery in Lahore. However, its worsening condition demonstrates the situation of several Sikh monuments in Pakistan which have historical significance. Many sites related to Sikh history, including places linked to the Sikh Gurus, the Sikh empire, and the legendary Sikh warriors who sacrificed their lives defending faith, human rights, and their nation, are located in Pakistan. Over 400 historic Sikh gurdwaras linked to the lives of Guru Nanak Dev and the other Sikh Gurus are located in Pakistan presently. However, many of these historic sites have either disappeared or have been left in ruins in Pakistan's provinces like Balochistan, Sindh and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, a report in Khalsa Vox mentioned. Pakistan frequently describes Gurdwara Janam Asthan Nankana Sahib and Gurdwara Darbar Sahib Kartarpur as examples of its commitment to preserving Sikh heritage. However, it has become difficult to hide the reality in the present time as each year Pakistani Sikh leaders raise funds from the global Sikh diaspora for maintaining gurdwaras in Pakistan while the condition of several unpopular historic sites continues to worsen. "The memories of great Sikh warriors such as Hari Singh Nalwa, Akali Phula Singh, Sardar Sham Singh Attariwala, and many others remain rooted in this land. Unfortunately, many monuments associated with them have fallen victim to neglect, encroachments, illegal construction, and the natural decay of time," the report said. In June, 125-year-old Gurdwara Sri Guru Singh Sabha Sahib in Pakistan's Farooqabad was demolished.

China pressurised Nepal over conference on Tibetan studies: Report

Lhasa, Aug 8 : Just weeks after China's new 'Ethnic Unity and Progress Law' came into effect, the country has pressured Nepal over an upcoming Tibetan studies conference in Kathmandu, a report has revealed. "This development is the latest sign that Beijing is expanding its campaign of transnational repression into academic discourse as part of its broader efforts to turn Tibetology into an ideological tool that reinforces the state's vision of a unified Chinese national identity, while silencing scholarship that challenges its official narrative," a report by the International Campaign for Tibet (ICT) mentioned.

Kathmandu is set to host the 17th Seminar of the International Association for Tibetan Studies (IATS) from August 23 to August 29; however, according to media reports, the Dharamshala-based Central Tibetan Administration (CTA) has decided not to send its researchers in an official capacity to the seminar to 'avoid jeopardising the conference and to ease Chinese pressure on Nepal.' According to the report, Nepal's Foreign Secretary Amrit Bahadur Rai and Chinese Ambassador to Nepal Zhang Maoming met on July 21, where Zhang raised China's concerns about presumed statements critical of China. "Citing a senior Nepalese foreign ministry official, the Kathmandu Post on July 22 reported that the Chinese Ambassador raised concerns that 'some individuals could speak against China and in support of Tibet and urged officials to make sure that no such things happen,' it stated. There was no formal diplomatic protest or written demand for cancellation; the report stressed that China's actions led to the withdrawal of CTA researchers. "The significance of this incident extends well beyond a single academic conference. Beijing is institutionalising a system in which diplomacy, repressive domestic legislation implemented outside China's borders.

North Korea blasts South Korea-EU statement on 'illegal' military cooperation with Russia

Seoul, Aug 8 : North Korea on Saturday blasted a recent joint statement adopted by South Korea and the European Union (EU) that condemned Pyongyang's military cooperation with Russia, saying it will continue to treat Seoul as "a hostile state."

In a press statement issued on the state-run Korean Central News Agency, the North Korean foreign ministry said South Korea is "an invariable enemy state obsessed with hostility and confrontation." South Korean President Lee Jae Myung and EU leaders adopted their joint statement on Wednesday during Lee's summit talks with Ursula von der Leyen, president of the European Commission, and Antonio Costa, president of the European Council, held at the EU headquarters in Brussels, Yonhap news agency reported. The South Korea-EU statement described the North-Russia military cooperation during the war in Ukraine as "illegal" and urged the two countries "to immediately cease all such activities and abide by the United Nations Charter and all relevant United Nations Security Council resolutions." Lee and EU leaders also expressed "grave concerns" over North Korea's nuclear and missile programs. Taiwan's survival relies on forging defence partnership with Japan: Report

Taipei, Aug 8 : The possibility of China's invasion of Taiwan is a scenario openly practised in military exercises launched by Beijing and based in its political doctrine. Taiwan cannot depend only on its distant allies, and its survival relies on having a defence partnership with Japan, a report has detailed. "For Taiwan, survival depends not only on its own resilience but on the strength of its alliances. Among potential partners, Japan stands out as the most proximate, capable and politically aligned actor. Taiwan must therefore deepen its defence linkages with Japan, not as a symbolic gesture, but as a strategic necessity," Khedroob Thondup, nephew of Tibetan spiritual leader Dalai Lama, wrote in a report in the European Times. Taiwan and Japan are bound geographically. The Ryukyu Islands stretch from Kyushu to Taiwan.

Khalistan movement fragmented ecosystem cannibalising itself: Report

Ottawa, Aug 8 : The broader Khalistan landscape — ranging from terror outfits such as Babbar Khalsa International (BKI) and the Sikhs for Justice (SFJ) to various Akali factions and the network linked to imprisoned leader Amritpal Singh — does not reflect a unified political movement. Instead, it remains fragmented into competing entities, each claiming legitimacy while discrediting the others as compromised or "cowardly". These factions are operating under the influence of handlers based in Islamabad pursuing interests unrelated to Sikh welfare, a report has highlighted. According to a 'Khalsa Vox' report, the Operation Blue Star anniversary statement from BKI chief Wadhawa Singh Babbar does not function as a rallying cry; instead, it comes across as an inadvertent confession of failure. "Every June, the anniversaries around Operation Blue Star are used by a handful of overseas-based extremists to reignite a separatist cause that the vast majority of India's Sikh community has long since moved past. This year was no different. Wadhawa Singh Babbar, chief of the Pakistan-based Babbar Khalsa International — a designated terrorist organisation — issued his customary statement.

Ram temple donation theft played with the sentiments of people, says Dimple Yadav

New Delhi, Aug 8 : Samajwadi Party MP Dimple Yadav on Saturday termed the alleged theft of donations from the Ram Temple a serious issue, saying it has hurt the sentiments of people across the country. Speaking to reporters outside Parliament, Dimple Yadav said questions need to be answered regarding the alleged theft of donations, precious metals, and ornaments from the temple. "The issue is how much donation, how many metals, and how many ornaments were stolen from the Ram Temple. There were also allegations of land scams. The question is where the money went and who benefited from it. Nobody knows how many crores of rupees may have been involved in these land deals. This is indeed a very serious matter because it has, somewhere, played with the sentiments of the country," she said. Samajwadi Party MP Dimple Yadav further said, "We will continuously make this demand because Ram Mandir is connected to people's emotions, and this is the heritage of our country... We want whatever devotion and emotion with which people have given this money to be used in the right way." Samajwadi Party MLA Shivpal Yadav also criticised the BJP government, alleging financial mismanagement. "This government presents a flawed budget every year and is unable to utilise nearly 30 per cent of it. What kind of government is this? It allows theft of donations, temple offerings, and even fails to properly utilise public funds," he said. Earlier in the day, Rajya Sabha was adjourned briefly amid chaos and protests from both the NDA and Opposition MPs, who accused each other of disrespecting Lord Ram, with the treasury benches demanding an apology. Opposition MPs began sloganeering over the matter involving the Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust.

TN set to revise auto-rickshaw fares after 13 years, unions submit representations

Chennai, Aug 8 : Auto-rickshaw fares in Tamil Nadu are set to be revised after a gap of 13 years, with the State Transport Authority submitting a detailed proposal to the government following consultations with trade unions and passenger representatives. Transport Authority officials said the report recommending a revision of fares has been forwarded to the Tamil Nadu Home Department and a decision on the new tariff is expected shortly. Tamil Nadu has around 3.46 lakh auto-rickshaws, and the existing fare structure has remained unchanged for nearly 13 years. Auto drivers and trade unions have been pressing the government for a revision, citing the sharp increase in fuel prices, maintenance expenses, insurance premiums and other operational costs during the period. As part of the exercise to determine a revised fare structure, a tripartite meeting involving government officials, auto-rickshaw trade unions and passenger organisations was held in Chennai on July 9. More than 30 representatives and office-bearers of trade unions participated in the consultation, along with around 90 representatives from passenger organisations. The two sides, however, put forward differing proposals on the minimum fare. Auto-rickshaw trade unions sought an increase in the minimum fare to Rs 70, arguing that the existing tariff was no longer viable considering the substantial rise in operating expenses over the past decade. Passenger organisations, while acknowledging the need for a revision, urged the government to keep the minimum fare at Rs 50 to ensure that auto travel remained affordable, particularly for daily commuters. Following the consultations, Transport Authority officials examined the proposals submitted by both sides and prepared a comprehensive report for the government's consideration. Officials said the report takes into account the major points raised during the tripartite discussions as well as several factors that influence auto-rickshaw operating costs.

SEBI has made Indian markets safer, more transparent than US: Experts on SpaceX shares

New Delhi, Aug 8 : Zerodha founder Nithin Kamath and Capitalmind Mutual Fund CEO Deepak Shenoy have drawn attention to restrictions imposed by US brokerage Fidelity on investors seeking to sell shares acquired in the recent SpaceX IPO, contrasting the practice with India's regulatory framework. Under Fidelity's policy, investors who sell their allotted SpaceX shares within 15 calendar days of the stock's trading debut -- a practice known as flipping -- risk losing access to future IPO allocations through the brokerage. Reacting to the policy, Kamath on Saturday praised India's capital market ecosystem and the regulatory safeguards put in place by market regulator SEBI and stock exchanges. "Sure, things can be better, but it's crazy how transparent and safe the Indian markets are compared to the US, all thanks to SEBI and the exchanges," Kamath said in a post on X. He added that Fidelity is not the only brokerage to impose such conditions, noting that similar restrictions appear to exist among other large US brokers as well. Capitalmind founder and portfolio manager Deepak Shenoy also questioned the practice, suggesting that such restrictions would be difficult to justify under India's regulatory regime. "How is this legal? Imagine a broker telling you that you can't sell a stock you got in an IPO in the first 15 days. SEBI will shut them down in a second in India," Shenoy said in a post on X.
